Nervousness, fretfulness, restleasness, sleap-leasness, irritability—all are the outward signs of invard nerve disturbance. The fault is not with the nerves which give you warning—not with the nerves which give you warning—not with the nerves which sive you warning—not with the nerves which enable you to feel, to walk to talk to think to see. But the inside nerves, the automatic power nerves—these are the nerves that work wears cit and worry breaks down.

I have not room here to explain how these tendar, tiny nerves control and operate the atomach, the heart, the kidneys, the liver. How excesses and strains and overindulgence destroy their delicate fibers. How, through a bend of sympathy, weakness in one center is conveyed to each of the other centers. How this same bond of sympathy produces the outward signs of nervousness which should warn us of the trouble within. I have not room to explain how these nerves may be reached and trengthened and vitalized and made well by a remody if spent thirty years in perfecting—now known by druggists everywhere as Dr. Rhoop's Restorative. I have not room to explain how this remedy, by removing the cause, puts a certain end to all forms of nervousness, inward and outward, including fretfulness, restlessness, sleepleasness, irritability, all of these thitigs are fully explained, in the book I will send you when you write. In more than a million homes my remedy is known, and relied upon. Yet you may not have heard of it. So, I make this ofter to you, a stranger, that every possible excuse for doubt may be removed. Send no moures—make no promise—take no risk. Simply write and ask. If you have never tried my remedy, I will send you an order on your druggist for a foil dollar hottle—not a sample, but the regular standard bottle he keeps constantly on his shelves.
